

February 20, 2024

12 - 2 pm

Social Science Matrix, 820 Social Science Building
UC Berkeley

BLACK SUCCESS, WHITE BACKLASH, AND THE "N-WORD MOMENT"

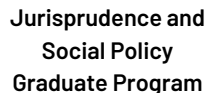

ELIJAH ANDERSON

Sterling Professor of Sociology and of African American Studies, Yale University

Since the end of the Civil Rights Movement, large numbers of Black people have made their way into settings previously occupied only by whites. While many whites supported these changes, many others felt that their own rights were being abrogated by Black inclusion. Moreover, Black prosperity has provoked white resentment that can make life exhausting for people of color—and it has led to the undoing of policies that have nurtured Black advancement.

Elijah Anderson is the Sterling Professor of Sociology and of African American Studies at Yale University, and one of the leading urban ethnographers in the United States. Anderson's most recent ethnographic work, Black in White Space: The Enduring Impact of Color in Everyday Life, was published by the University of Chicago Press in 2022.

Sponsors:

Register:
tinyurl.com/black-success

If you require an accommodation for effective communication or access information to fully participate in this event, please contact Barbara Montano at bmontano14@berkeley.edu or 510-664-4324 with as much advance notice as possible and at least 7-10 days in advance of the event.

